President's Message

Hello Fellow Dolphin Divers

This past month has been exciting with several events and a few "lucky" members! For those of you who were interested in participating in the raffle but were unable to join the general meeting, Dave Edwards walked away with a new to him inflatable, motor and trailer. Way to go! A special thank you to Bob and Kim for this incredibly generous donation.

Stay posted and try to join some of these high altitude dives. It's a great place to dial in skills, and cleaning your gear while searching for treasure. Our past dive yielded many good finds for those in attendance.

A big thanks to Brad Freelove for his annual contribution and coordination of the club's participation in Great American River Cleanup (Aka. GARCU) and those who participated in the gathering and disposal of debris. It's acts of generosity like these that make our natural resources more appreciated.

One of our previous guest speakers, Frank Hurd of the Nature Conservancy in coordination with Reef Check has put together a class for more accurate abalone counting. They have offered to the club's membership pulling together a class and sharing their knowledge. If you are interested, please let me know.

Looking forward, Mike Johnson of Dolphin Scuba Center has coordinated for us Joe Geiss representative of Sea Life and Scuba Pro to present during our October meeting. Joe will be bringing with him some "things" you won't want to miss this meeting for.

Lastly, Tom Oja our Clubs Safety Officer and Mitch Evenson, SCUBA Instructor, have identified some dates and times to cover a safety equipment class, a refresher AED, O2 CPR class and a Rescue Class. If you are interested in learning about the equipment the club owns and has at its events, interested in further educating your SCUBA knowledge or need recertification, these are all excellent classes. Stay tuned for more details.

In recent meetings we have seen many new faces. If you have the time to come join us at an event or the monthly meeting your participation is welcomed. Bring a friend, visit with those you haven't seen in a while, or come out and see the new faces. Whatever the reason, it is always great to have your participation!

With many events in the near future watch the calendar to stay updated.

SAFETY

Tom Oja, DDS Safety Officer

Plan your dive and dive your plan. Our dive next month to Fucherie Lake is very much a plan. With the distance we need to travel and the time it takes to get to altitude and back down we need to allow several hours of acclimation time. Additionally we are leaving open the option to cancel our second dive if we start to run short of time and/or daylight. Which I have been to this lake before and that has helped me to plan this dive we are taking a road that I have never driven but other club members have and helped provide it has an option. So while I am putting some serious planning into this trip I am also allow myself the option to make changes or even cancel the second dive if timing does not work out exactly as I planned. I really like the statement plan your dive and dive your plan however I also like the option to pull out of one or both dives if conditions are not exactly as expected.

My best example of that is diving in Monterey. I almost always plan on doing two dives the first full day I am there. However, there are a variety of factors that have caused me to cancel the second dive now and then. Since I usually drive down to Monterey the night before, traffic and the amount of time I spent on the road can cause me to be more tired than expected. While I won't feel it when I get in the water for my first dive, by the time I get out after that dive I may be much more exhausted than expected. This is a case where you really want to consider not pushing yourself. Your body has many early warning systems and sometime that feeling of tiredness can be a major indicator. I know of many divers who have cancelled their second dive and avoided a problem that one or more other divers experienced. Sometime it really is life or death so be sure to listen to your body not only when planning a trip but even before, during, and after each dive.

One more example is the recent river cleanup. We were in the water for most of the day and normally I am wanting to spend a lot more time in the water then just 6 hours. This time there was a lot less visibility, only a few feet or less at times. When you are in a lake that drop in visibility is not always a problem because you control how fast you are moving in the water. In my case riding the river water slide, as I call it, with only two feet of visibility, created a sense of vertigo or sea sicknesses with the bottom passing by as quickly as it did. My initial solution was to limit my time under water to 15 minutes at a time. While that helped I eventually just came up and hopped on a raft, thanks Brad. So no matter what the activity or perceived importance of a dive, always remember you are the one responsive for your safety... you CAN call a dive.

FUTURE EVENTS

October 9th we will be diving Fucherie Lake. Here is how the plan for the day looks so far: Some people may choose to camp at a campground along the way to avoid getting up as early. I would not recommend camping at the lake as it can be a rough ride for a trailer. There are some campgrounds along highway 80 as well as along highway 89. Those who choose to make it a day trip can make their own ride share arrangements or meet somewhere along the way. I am happy to help coordinate that in advance. You should have either 4x4 or high clearance vehicle for this trip. Most of the road off of highway 89 is gravel or dirt with the last 3 miles a bit rougher so tie your tanks down good. I would suggest the following for those who would like to ride share.

6:45am Meet in Auburn at the McDonalds parking lot near Hw 80 and Forresthill Road.

If you want breakfast or need to top off your fuel plan on arriving before 6:45am. From here you will probably want to park your cars either on the street or at another near by parking lot. The trip is 220 miles round trip, so please plan your fuel accordingly.

7am Leave Auburn. Donner Summit has a rest area along the way, and it makes a good break point.

Plan on going via Truckee instead of the shorter route shown on Google as it is a much rougher ride.

10am Arrive at the Fucherie Lake.

Noon First Dive. We will allow 2 hours to acclimate to the altitude and have lunch.

2pm Optional Second Dive or time to relax and enjoy the quiet.

5pm Leave for Auburn and/or pickup your camping gear along the way.

8:30pm Arrive back in the Auburn Area.

Directions from Auburn (via Google):

Hw 80 East 68 miles

Hw 89 North 41.4 miles

Jackson Meadows Road West (left) 9.7 miles

Continue on Henness Pass Road for 6.5 miles

Turn Left onto Forest Route 41 for 2.2 miles

Continue Straight onto Meadow Lake road for 3.0 miles

Slight left at campground/restroom area for 3.4 miles

Arrive at Lake Fucherie

PLAN ON LOOKING THIS UP ON A MAP BEFORE YOU COME, or meet us along the way. There is no cell phone coverage once you turn off of hw 89. I snorkeled this lake a couple months ago in a shortie. While it was a bit chilly we had no problem spending about 20 minute in the lake so it will be a very comfortable dive in a 5-7mil wet suit. I am sure it will get cooler down a ways so plan on 7mil. Visibility was 20 to 30 feet or more so it will make for a nice relaxing dive once you get there. As always watch Meetup and the club email blast for last minute changes, or better yet contact me directly so I know you are coming and can arrange meeting locations along the way. ~Tom Oja

Saturday is the Cook-off located in the south harbor and features 30 + competitive teams. There will be live music, a silent auction and vendors selling arts and crafts. We did not get enough members to participate in the Cook off. So, this will be another great opportunity to go diving and enjoy the North Coast. Cost: For day use to park the cost is $5.00 per car. Kayaks are no cost, but if boat is launched for fishing it is a $10.00 cost. This is basically a kayak, swimming or diving lake. Motor Boats are only allowed to go 5 miles an hour.

The hike will also go through a meadow and breath-taking areas. If you choose not to hike, there is the beach and lake area to enjoy. You can relax, sun bath, swim, or read.

Tom Oja may lead a dive that day (depending on his schedule). If so details on that later from him.

If you are hiking you will want a lunch or snacks, water, hiking sticks, hiking shoes, a hat, bug repellent, and sunscreen.

Tom and Meredith will provide chicken for all that R.S.V. P. by October 12th for the Potluck dinner.

Meredith Meschini mmesch_2000@yahoo.com or text/call 916-718-3209

When you R.S.V.P please let us know if you are coming for the full day, or just the Potluck, Full Moon Paddle. Also what dish you are planning to bring.

Lake Valley Reservoir takes approximately 1 hour and 15 min from Roseville to reach.

Take I- 80 to Yuba Gap Exit. (This is the exit right before Hwy 20 exit). At the top of the exit turn to the right and then immediately left on the road. You will head up the little hill and see a sign to turn right toward Lake Valley Reservoir and campground. Follow that road for around 2 miles, and you will come to a sign to turn left to go to the Reservoir. (If you go straight you will go to the campground). Once you turn left go slow, and turn right at the 1st road which be about a block down. It is the road to the parking for the day use area.

Hope you can come and enjoy the beautiful area and adventurous, friendship day.

Point Lobos January 14

Make reservations on November 14!

Join me to help me celebrate my birthday the second weekend in January with a dive trip to Point Lobos. Stay up late on Sunday, November 13, to make a dive team reservation, just after midnight on the 14th, for the Underwater Park at Point Lobos State Park, in Carmel, on Saturday, January 14. As a team leader you MUST be there for anyone on your team to dive.

Point Lobos is a protected game preserve and nothing may be taken from the waters in the park. Because there is no hunting the fish feel safe and curious about us. We often see more and bigger fish here than elsewhere on our beautiful coast. The visibility is often better here too, because it borders the Carmel Trench and the open ocean. Reservations can be made 2 months in advance of the dive date. This is why we each need to make ours just after midnight on Monday, November 14. I'll send a reminder to the Yahoo Group just before the reservations are due.

Swap Meet and Flea Market Sale!

Got an old but serviceable wetsuit or B.C. that you want to get rid of? How about a spare set of fins or regulator that you would like to trade for a camera? Well, on October 22nd at Dolphin Scuba on El Camino Ave. you can have a chance to sell, trade, or just give away your excess dive and dive related equipment. The Flea Market/Swap Meet of a couple years ago is BACK! Mike Johnson, owner of Dolphin Swim and Scuba, has given us the ok to use part of his parking lot and front patio area to set up tables, booths, sunshades and awnings to sell or trade our old diving stuff. A couple years ago we had the same thing at Mike's warehouse. It was a great success then. We hope to have the same success this year.

Along with local divers selling or trading off their own stuff, Dolphin Scuba will have on sale some used and new equipment for all to look at. The sale will only be on the 22nd and there will be limited space. If you are interested in securing a spot to show your wares, GET HOLD OF ME.....NOT THE SHOP! There will be no cost for the space and Mike will have some screaming deals available on both new and used equipment.

So, let me know soon if you want to get rid of the wetsuit that shrank or an old BC that needs a new home. Perhaps we can help you out. Brad Freelove bradlinda@frontiernet.net

TRIP REPORT

By Pam Wade

Jardines Aggressor, Southern Cuba

I've traveled with Ken Knezick of Island Dreams, Houston Texas several times since 2004. When I got an email about his trip to Cuba, 2 nights in Habana and 6 days of diving I called two friends and we jumped on it.

This trip was made possible because of Oceans for Youth Foundation People-to-People educational program and its association with the Jardines Aggressor liveaboard dive vessel. The price included round-trip transfers from HAV International Airport, two nights at Hotel Parque Central, all meals (and tips in Havana), presentation by top Cuban biologist, a full days tour of old Havana, 6 hour air-conditioned bus ride to Jucaro where we boarded the 110ft Jardines Aggressor and it's delightful, accommodating crew. A delicious lunch and five hours later we arrived at our dive destination and home for the next six days at the outer edge of the reef in the Gardens of the Queen Marine Park. All drinks on board are included. What wasn't included was airfare to Havana, visa requirements, travel insurance, tips on the boat and any personal expenses (Cuban cigars, Cuban rum, T-shirts, postcards, etc).

My only disappointment was there wasn't enough time in Havana, two more days would have been appreciated. So much history, all the way back to Columbus, so many grand styles of buildings in various states of decay and repair, so many more restaurants, and late night music to dance to! I would have love some time to just walk around and soak it all in after the tour.

The highways were exceptionally good considering there were very few cars once we got out of Havana. The bus passed lots of people waiting for public buses, walkers, hitchhikers with paper money in their hands for incentive, a few old bicycles, classic cars on the side of the road with their hoods up, horse drawn carts, riders on horseback, motorcycles (nothing like in Indonesia) rail road tracks, tractors, trucks hauling logs or containers, farmers leading water buffalo, men cutting the grass between the lanes with machetes, horses, goats, cattle eating the grass along the side of the road. Bananas, sugar cane, corn, lettuce, coconut palms, mango cassava root, growing alongside the mostly flat green landscape, only a small stretch of hills or mountains did we pass.

Fast forward to the diving, typical easy, efficient Aggressor set up, comfortable diving from two hard bottom skiffs, two dive masters per boat, maximum 10 divers and a skilled driver. Back rolls into the water one at a time as you were ready, meet at the bottom, one dive master in the lead, one in the rear. I felt no pressure to hurry up, or stay with my buddy. The dive master kept track of me if I got too far away or the visibility was such that I couldn't find the group, and he got my attention when he found something good and came over when I found something good. What is there to see in Cuba that you won't see anywhere else in the Caribbean? Lots of big groupers to start with; Goliath, Nassau, Tiger, and Black groupers, several of each kind on every dive, and several that followed us around for most of the dive. Big Caribbean Reef sharks often came in to check us out at the beginning of a dive and sometimes up to four would stay with the group. There is a large round whiptail stingray that is fairly unique to southern Cuba. What surprised me? We didn't see a lot of eels, a few Green Morays, not many boxfish, no razorfish in all that sand. I was also surprised that there weren't more crabs and octopus out at night. I recommend a red filter on your lights at night; the "worms" make it uncomfortable and impossible to take a photo. I entertained myself by feeding the basket starfish the "worms" that gathered around my light (it worked for a few seconds.) Most dive sites started and ended in a beautiful coral garden with sea fans, tube sponges and a variety of colorful corals. From there we followed down a wall, often with narrow canyons, to a sandy bottom. Average depth ranged from 25-65 or 70 feet, two or three dives took us to a depth of 95 or so. Most of us dove nitrox. Visibility ranged from 20 to 75 feet, mostly 40-65 feet (this may have been due to high winds from the week before there were lots of hurricanes in the area.)

An Italian and Cuban chef provided a delicious array of meals. Buffet breakfast and lunch, and served dinners were varied, lobster, turkey, pasta all delicious, I heard no complaints.

Latin dance lessons were offered after dinner. The crew worked diligently to meet your every need; hot towels after each dive, rooms cleaned every morning, any special requests met as far as food goes, the mango/lime smoothies with or without the rum were delicious. They worked tirelessly to take pictures and presented us with a DVD at the end of the trip which included all participants and staff, highlights above and below the water. Also offered were afternoon trips to see the wildlife; birds, rodents, iguana, crocodiles, and the highlight for me-snorkeling in the mangroves. You can book this trip directly with Aggressor. You won't be sorry. ~Pam

Great American River Clean Up 2016

Saturday, September 17th found divers and boat handlers from Dolphin Divers, The Seahorses, A.I.M., The Boy Scouts of America, and other concerned citizens heading down the American River to pick up the trash and treasures that others have left behind. We left Lower Sunrise Park about 9 am and found the water temp to be near 65 degrees. Very nice for a warm fall day. What was not so nice was the limited water visibility.....3 ft. or less! Not expected or wanted but you get what you get.

About 40 divers and boat handlers made the trek down from Lower Sunrise to River Bend Park in almost record time. Our usual stop was made at the San Juan Rapids where we had a short break. Then, the divers got real busy and started bringing up a lot more garbage and some really fine treasure. By now, Dennis and Brandon had found GoPro cameras that still worked! Cell phones, cameras, wallets, keys, sunglasses, and the assorted unopened beers were brought aboard. Yes, we did bring up bag after bag of cans, bottles, and other forms of trash.

At 2:30 pm boats started to arrive at River Bend. Garbage and goodies were unloaded on shore. The scouts gathered up all of the recyclables. The rest of the trash was left for the county to come and get. There were lots of smiling faces and muddy feet but everyone said that they would be back again next year.

Thanks to all those that attended this very necessary endeavor. I would not want to see what the river parkway would look like if we did not take care of it. Across the state, there were over 52,000 others out collecting almost 300 tons of trash. Our 40 plus members were but a small part of a great effort. We removed almost 600 lbs. of garbage from the sides, surface, and bottom of the American River.

A special thanks to Jack Millard. His efforts of the past 30 years have helped keep the GARCUCU event going and going. I managed to find a photo of his first river dive. Hope you enjoy it.

Thanks again and see you all very soon. ~Brad

Tropical Paradise Labor Day 2016

The turnout for this year was unbelievable, we accommodated the large volume of attending DDS members, families & friends. The weather was windy most of the time, but overall it was fine. The supportive event leaders did a wonderful job!

Golden Fairy Basslet

Diving in the Caribbean you've seen plenty of Fairy Basslets – purple to violet front half and yellow to gold rear half with a dark spot on the dorsal fin, about 1½ to 3 inches long. (That is if the lionfish haven't eaten them all.) If you ever get to Southern Cuba, the 600 cays and islands of the Jardines de La Reina try looking amongst the hundreds of Fairy Basslets on every dive for the all yellow or Gold Basslet with purple to violet ventral fins and a black spot surrounded by purple to violet on the fore dorsal fin. This species was first discovered in August 2010 and in March 2012 one was reported from Little Cayman, its full range is not yet known. You may find the Fairy Basslets swimming upside-down near ledges or around the ceilings of caves in the 40 to 60ft range. The Golden Basslet prefers to flit about right side up. FYI: no great hammerhead sightings (wrong time of year), but plenty of Caribbean Reef Sharks and a few silky sharks. ~Pam

The weather condition for this event was undesirable, can you say whitecaps. To keep the divers safe, this event was cancelled.

The Potluck Dinner was amazing, talk about an abundance of food. Because of our fearless divers, we served some fried abalone. A big thank you goes out to all the people that assisted with the pounding and cooking of the abalone. Plus all the volunteers who helped getting things ready, I couldn't have done this alone. After the potluck dinner, the campfires were a blazing. A special thanks goes to everyone who brought firewood.

The Raffle Event leader:

Jack Millard.

The prizes went to various lucky ticket winners.

On the final day, a Continental Breakfast was given by Holly & Cayle Little. A table was full of muffins, bagels, and various juices served for everyone's enjoyment.

With the event leaders and numerous volunteers this event was a success! This event represents a reunion of time to remember, a time to laugh, a time to share old stories and to make new memories.

If you missed this year's Labor Day outing, I'd put this on your calendar to attend next year. You won't regret it!
